Little Girl, Giant Tyee

Biggest tyee ever recorded from Campbell River sports fishing waters is this 73½-pounder hooked by 50-pound, eight-year-old Patricia Hughes of West Vancouver and eventually landed by her father, Roger. Fish was hooked in Frenchman's Pool on Martin plug. It was 1½ pounds heavier than previous record fish, caught by Lionel Patton of Olympia, Wash., in 1959. See Page 5.—(Brian Kyle)

Second Russian Woman Ready for Space Trip?

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union hinted Monday that a new manned space flight is in the offing and that it may be made by a woman.

(In Turin, Italy, a radio listening post reported Monday that it had picked up radio signals from the Soviet Union which appeared to be part of a cosmonaut countdown. The report came from Italy's largest radio laboratory.)

The hints were contained in the government newspaper Izvestia amid unofficial reports that a space launching was being prepared.

Izvestia singled out Marina

Popovich, wife of cosmonaut Pavel Popovich, as a possibility to become the second woman to orbit the earth.

The first was Valentina Tereshkova, wife of cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev.

Izvestia reported that Mrs. Popovich, who holds an airplane speed record, "has finished the higher aviation school and has now left for a distant business trip."

"The machine with which she is now familiarizing herself is considerably more powerful than the one in which she established a new record for speed two months ago," Popovich was quoted as saying.

To Improve Image

Employment Service Split from Insurance

VANCOUVER (CP)—The National Employment Service is to be taken from the wing of the Unemployment Insurance Commission and become a part of the labor department, Labor Minister MacEachen said here Monday night.

Mr. MacEachen told the International Association of Government Labor Officials that the employment service had been working under a cloud "because of its association with the negative aspect of unemployment insurance."

"This has certainly affected its public image and has to some extent limited its effectiveness," the minister said.

The basic aims of the employment service would remain the same after its transfer.

"But in arranging this move we will be able to make it easier for the employment service to provide the kind of service that is needed today, and to play its part more effectively in the organization of the labor market and the implementation of an active manpower policy."

Fully 85 per cent of the American people stand solidly behind President Lyndon Johnson's action in ordering an air strike on North Viet Nam PT boat bases, according to a just completed survey of a cross-section of the public.

In a single stroke, Johnson has, at least temporarily, turned his greatest political vulnerability in foreign policy into one of his strongest assets.

These key facts emerged from this special survey taken immediately after the president's action:

● Word of the events in North Viet Nam spread quickly: 88 per cent of the public reported having followed the rapidly moving developments; the remaining 12 per cent said they were not acquainted with them 24 to 48 hours later.

● In July before the turn of events, the Johnson administration was criticized by 56 per cent of Americans for the way Viet Nam was being handled. Today, the American people have sharply revised this estimate to a 72 per cent vote of confidence in the president's approach to Viet Nam.

● Before the attacks on U.S. naval vessels, public opinion was moving slowly toward favoring the carrying of the war to North Viet Nam. But a plurality of the public still opposed this step, fearing Red Chinese intervention. Now, those favoring the subject favor taking the war to North Viet Nam by a majority of two to one.

● Before the president's action, 50 per cent of the public thought Johnson could handle Viet Nam better than Sen. Barry Goldwater. This represented five points less than the 64 to 36 per cent lead Johnson had over Goldwater in the presidential race. Viet Nam was clearly an issue working for Goldwater. Today, Viet Nam has

HALIFAX (CP)—An 18-year-old Halifax youth gave himself up to police at an airport terminal here late Monday and was charged with the killing of two boys in the city's south end Saturday night. His name was withheld.

Knifer Spreads Terror At Sea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A ship in mid-Pacific radioed the U.S. Coast Guard here Monday night that her boatswain had stabbed one crew member to death and injured another while they slept and was terrorizing the rest of the crew with a knife.

The ship was identified as the St. Nicholas, which the coast guard said was of Lebanese registry.

The master gave his position as about 2,000 miles northwest of Honolulu, headed for Japan.

500 MILES

The coast guard gave the St. Nicholas the names of six other ships in the area which might have a doctor aboard, but none was within 500 miles. The coast guard also suggested to the master that he put in at the nearest naval base, Midway Island, if possible.

The coast guard and the navy checked the vast area for a military vessel which might be sent to the aid of the St. Nicholas.

Witness Terrified — Judge

VANCOUVER (CP)—County Court Judge R. A. Sargent declared Monday that a terrified crown witness had obviously been tampered with.

Crown counsel Donald Morrison was directed to refer the matter to the attorney-general. The witness, Donald Trudeau, was asked about vandalism in his Berolona Cabaret March 20.

The judge said Trudeau's answers were evasive and obviously made in a state of terror.

He convicted Frank (Red) Gardner, 34, and his brother Tony, 27, of malicious damage, and Frank Gardner guilty on another charge of possession of an offensive weapon. Both were remanded to Friday for sentence.

The judge said he found that a gang of men, including the two brothers, had entered the club armed with chains and sticks and had demolished the premises.

Another 55 Lumpas Killed

LUSAKA (Reuters)—Northern Rhodesian security forces Monday killed 55 more followers of the outlawed Lumpa church sect in a violent battle in the Northern Province, a government spokesman said Monday night. One soldier later died of wounds.

The spokesman said Monday's action brought the officially-confirmed death toll in both Northern and Eastern Provinces in more than two weeks of clashes to 491 killed and 344 wounded.

Prime Minister Kenneth Kaunda said earlier Monday he thought there had been outside interference in the Lumpa sect disturbances. "Definitely this has been exploited by some better informed minds, in the military sense."

The arrest ended a desperate 48-hour day-and-night search that started after three boys—11 and 12 years old—were shot down separately within 40 minutes. One boy survived and is recovering in hospital. The gunman is said to have ridden a bicycle.

TWO CHARGES

Police Chief Verdon Mitchell announced shortly after the youth was arrested that he had been charged with the capital murder of 11-year-old Gordon Hartling and 12-year-old James Squires.

The chief said the name of the arrested youth would not be made known until he is arraigned in court today.

AIRPORT TIP

Chief Mitchell said the arrest came as a result of information received by RCMP from employees of the Halifax International Airport, 25 miles outside the city. A team of city police and RCMP took the 18-year-old into custody.

After lengthy questioning by police, the charge of capital murder was laid. The chief said the youth was from "the Halifax

Savage Race Fight

Battle Scene Surrounded

BESSEMER, Ala. (UPI)—Armed deputy sheriffs threw a tight cordon around a predominantly Negro community early Monday after a savage interracial knife fight that saw a Negro man killed and four other persons wounded Sunday.

Eighteen deputies carrying shotguns encircled the town for several hours in the early morning sealing all three roads leading into Rainwood, on the outskirts of Bessemer, after the battle.

NO ARRESTS

Bessemer coroner Andy Vines issued a tentative ruling of "justifiable homicide" in the stabbing death of Bennie C. Gates, 23, a Negro. Gates received three large stab wounds in his left side and numerous small slashes in his body and face.

Involved in the fight with Gates were Benny Blake Hicks and his father, Lester Hicks, both white. They received minor cuts and bruises.

In other racial developments in the south, a private autopsy ordered by the family of one of three civil rights workers killed in Mississippi added to the controversy in the case.

WASNT BEATEN

A New York pathologist said his examination of the body of Michael Schwerner, 24, of Brooklyn, showed no evidence that the social worker was beaten before a bullet ended his life. An earlier private autopsy by the same pathologist on James Chaney, another of the victims, stated the Meridian, Miss., Negro was brutally beaten before or after three shots were fired into his body.

Bookies Find the Key To Teen-Age Pockets

LONDON (UPI)—A chain of British bookies is now taking bets on which entertainers will top the weekly best-selling record charts.

The Beatles quickly became 4-1 favorites, shortly after pop record charts were added Sunday to horse races, football games and other traditional gambling favorites at the 21 East London betting shops of William Massey.

Bill Newman, a co-director of the East London chain, said the betting was started after noting the habits of teen-agers. "They spend money in record shops, on clothes, and hair-dos—but they don't ever seem to bet," he said.

But betting on the Beatles seemed to be changing that. The firm's shops were crowded with teen-agers wagering on disc artists instead of horses.

Sporadic Gunfire

Cyprus Still Tense Despite Cease-Fire

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Turkey and the Greek Cypriots accepted a Cyprus cease-fire negotiated by the United Nations Monday, but sporadic gunfire continued in downtown Nicosia and northwest Cyprus.

The uneasy truce was imperiled later Monday when the Greek Cypriots rejected a Turkish demand that Greek Cypriot troops withdraw from the northwest coast to positions held before the fighting erupted.

"IMPOSSIBLE" A foreign ministry spokesman said the withdrawal was "psychologically impossible" because of heavy Greek Cypriot casualties there. "It is out of the question that we withdraw from the new positions and Turkey knows this," he said.

Both parties had notified the UN that they would abide by the peace plea, but Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu said Turkish compliance was conditional on the Greek Cypriots ending their incursions into Turkish territory.

Martin Hails Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin welcomed renewed pressure in Parliament Monday for wider powers and a larger United Nations force to keep the Cyprus crisis from growing into another world war.

However, he warned during an emergency Commons debate that the UN cannot impose itself on the government of the Mediterranean island.

Defence Minister Hellyer said it is well understood by the United Nations that Canada would withdraw her troops from Cyprus if they were ordered into a militarily indefensible position.

Head in Toilet

Murder Suspect Found Nearly Drowned in Cell

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man charged with two counts of capital murder almost drowned in his prison cell Sunday night. A guard pulled the man's head from a toilet bowl.

The incident occurred a little more than 24 hours after Ronald Eugene Ingram, a 34-year-old baker, was charged with a crime two years old.

He faces two counts of capital murder in the rifle slaying of sweethearts Diane Phipps and Leslie Dixon on Oct. 16, 1962. Their bodies were found in locations eight miles apart near Nanaimo, after they had been shot with a .22-calibre rifle.

Officials at Oakalla prison farm said Ingram was alone in a cell and the toilet had been plugged. A guard found him at 10:45 p.m. and called an inhalator squad.

UNDER CLOSE GUARD

No pulse was apparent but Ingram later responded to treatment and was placed under close guard in the prison hospital, where his condition Monday was satisfactory.

Couple Not Parents Of Accused Man

NANAIMO—Ronald Eugene Ingram, accused in the 1962 rifle slaying of Leslie Dixon and Diane Phipps, is not the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ingram, 1020 Beach Drive, Nanaimo, as reported in a front page story in the Sunday edition of The Daily Colonist.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingram are not related to the 34-year-old suspect, and The Daily Colonist regrets any inconvenience caused by the statement.

Helicopter Crashes

BLACKSTONE, Va. (AP)—A U.S. army helicopter with four men aboard, and reported to have been carrying explosives, crashed and caught fire Monday night on a farm about eight miles north of here.

The four men escaped from the wreckage and were taken to the army dispensary at nearby Camp Pickett. Officers evacuated five families from homes near the crash scene.

become a strong plus for Johnson; by 71 to 29 per cent, the public believes Johnson will handle Viet Nam better than Goldwater.

The sudden and decisive events of the past week, triggering as they have equally sudden and decisive shifts in public opinion, illustrate two modern political facts of life: first, a vast advantage on foreign and defence policy issues remains with the incumbent president and second, as long as the country is not involved in another war of the magnitude of Korea, the public will rally to support the president and will trust him more than they will his political opponent.

The closing of ranks behind the president in this latest military crisis parallels national reaction during the Cuban missile crisis in 1962 and the Lebanese invasion by U.S. Marines under President Eisenhower in 1958. In both instances, overwhelming majorities of the people registered immediate approval of presidential action. It was equally true, however, that as each crisis receded, national unity diminished and criticism again appeared.

By every measure, confidence in Johnson on the Viet Nam issue has risen sharply. For the moment, at least, Goldwater has lost a key foreign policy issue. His charge of a "no win" policy in Viet Nam had made him some votes. But by the same token, a majority of the public was fearful Goldwater as president might go too far and plunge the country into a nuclear war.

Overnight, events have changed and so has the way Viet Nam will affect the outcome of the election for president.

Blood Need Urgent Red Cross Warns

Victoria residents are being asked by the Red Cross to answer an emergency by attendance at blood donor clinics today and Wednesday. The regular blood bank has been depleted, and 1,500 pints of blood are needed.

Officials urge citizens to donate blood at Red Cross House, 1046 Fort Street, between either 1:30 and 4:30 p.m. or 6:30 and 9 p.m.

If citizens do not respond, operations other than emergencies will have to be cancelled this week, said Mrs. V. A. Thistle, secretary of the Victoria Red Cross blood donor clinic.

The blood bank has been depleted by the absence of regular donors taking their summer vacations.

lish Cypriot villages in north-west Cyprus.

"If firing continues we shall have no other recourse but to continue to protect the lives of innocent Turks," Inoué said.

The impasse over the Turkish demand threatened new hostilities on the island, UN officials said the rejection could cause new trouble, but said they did not anticipate new air attacks by the Turks.

The cease-fire came as Greece accused Turkey of air-raids early Monday on the Greek Cypriot village of Polis. Turkey charged that Greek planes which made a show of force over the island Sunday, actually had bombed the Turkish Cypriot community of Kokkina.

Both nations denied the other's charges.

In downtown Nicosia, pedestrians hurried for cover and automobiles sped into side streets Monday night as gunfire erupted near the "green line" neutral strip dividing Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot forces.

In Polis, Greek Cypriot villagers said they saw two American-made Turkish F100 super Sabres make two machine gun attacks on the village Monday morning.

One resident, Dr. Haralambos Liasides, a surgeon in the Greek Cypriot national guard,

Monday their efforts were reported unsuccessful.

The United Nations feared that if the shooting continued the Turkish air force jets might return to strike again in the region where Greek Cypriots claimed a Turkish air onslaught Sunday killed some 300 persons.

However, in an official statement, the Greek Cypriot government said Monday that 21 persons had been killed and 80 wounded. There were no casualties in Monday's attack on Polis, the statement said.

What Turkey has done once, it is likely to do again—faster and harder—if the Greek Cypriot offensive is renewed," one official said, referring to Turkish air sorties against Greek Cypriot positions.

In northwest Cyprus, scene of Turkish attacks during the past four days, newsmen found a pall of smoke over Kokkina. At Pakhyammos, another village attacked by the Turks, a hospital had been destroyed by a bomb, reportedly killing three doctors and three nurses.

Reporters said shooting was greatly diminished compared with the fighting of recent days. But they contested U.N. claims that all was peaceful in the region following the cease-fire agreement.

Offers Sent To Car Firm

LONDON (Reuters)—Formal offers by the American Chrysler Car Corp. for a $12,300,000 ($36,900,000) stake in Britain's Rootes car group were mailed to the Rootes' shareholders Monday night.

Enclosed with the offers was a letter from the British company's chairman, Lord Rootes, backing the deal because of the "added strength" it would bring to the British group.

Monday their efforts were reported unsuccessful.

Pope Proposes To Intervene In World Strife

By BENNETT M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI offered in his first encyclical letter Monday to intervene in international disputes and to put the Roman Catholic Church into contact with all parts of the world, whether God-fearing or godless.

He called world peace "the great and universal question."

The pontiff decried communism and atheism, yet held out the hope that one day such forces would enter into a more positive, dialogue with his church.

He also proposed joining with non-Christian religions "in promoting and defending common ideals of religious liberty, human brotherhood, good culture, social welfare and civil order."

He said, however, he felt Christianity is the one true religion.

The 14,000-word encyclical bore the Latin title Ecclesiam Suam from its opening words, meaning His (Christ's) Church.

A broad outline of the world role that the pontiff sees for modern Catholicism, it was addressed to the church's bishops.

INFORMAL MESSAGE

The pope referred to it as a conversation, as an informal message and as a set of practical guidelines for his 13-month-old reign. Its three chapters discussed church awareness of itself, renewal of the church as sought by the Vatican Ecumenical Council and dialogue with all elements of modern life.

EXISTING POSITIONS

At several points Pope Paul stressed existing positions of his church concerning both need for change and resistance to change.

He pledged to go on with church reform and the search for Christian unity begun by the late Pope John XXIII.

NO COMPROMISE

He said, however, for the benefit of Protestants and others in unity work: "It is not in her power to compromise with the integrity of the faith."

The internal church reform by the ecumenical council "cannot concern either the essential conception of the church or its basic structure," he said.

Pope Paul called it distressing to see that many non-Catholic Christians regard the Papacy "as being its (Christian unity's) stumbling block."

He said that, without the pope, "the Catholic Church would no longer be Catholic."

The Church of Christ would utterly collapse.

REPORT DENIED

Results of the official autopsies performed in Mississippi have not been released. One Mississippi official was quoted as saying none of the bodies showed any signs of a beating.

Spain, a professor of clinical pathology and member of the Medical Committee for Human Rights, said James Chaney, 21, the Negro, had suffered a severe beating with either a blunt instrument or a chain and was shot three times.

NOT BY BULLDOZER

To speculation that the injuries might have been caused by the bulldozer or drag line used to unearth the bodies from the dam where they were buried, Spain said there "could be no other explanation except a severe beating."

EMPHASIZE GUIDELINES

Throughout the encyclical Pope emphasized that he did not want to go into concrete ideas still being considered by the ecumenical council. Instead he emphasized guidelines.

Defence Psychology

Saigon Officials Planning Air Raid Shelter Program

SAIGON (AP) — Mixing civil defence and psychology, city officials announced Monday they plan to build 500 air raid shelters in Saigon to counter attacks from North Viet Nam.

Brig.-Gen. Duong Ngoc Lam, prefect of the capital, said the projected public shelters will accommodate 400,000 of Saigon's nearly 1,500,000 people.

Lam asked landowners to donate property, called for volunteers to help construct the shelters and urged private persons to dig their own.

EMERGENCY ATMOSPHERE

The shelter building will give residents a "real atmosphere of emergency," he said. During an hour-long air raid drill Sunday, the first Saigon has had since the Second World War, onlookers crowded around civil defence trucks "as if it were all a play," Lam said.

At this point, actual chances of bombardment appear slight, especially in view of the weakness of North Viet Nam's and Communist China's air forces and the strength of U.S. air force combat units in this area.

PSYCHOLOGICAL EFFECT

But emergency measures here are intended partly for their psychological effect, an attempt to involve the normally indifferent Saigonese in the war—for three years a domestic war pitting U.S.-backed government forces against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

A night curfew was imposed last week primarily for the same reason, closing much of the city's night life.

CHINESE TROOPS

Premier Nguyen Khanh charged Monday that Communist China has troops stationed in North Viet Nam in addition to about 15 Chinese jet fighters in the capital of Hanoi.

He said about 15 Soviet-built MiG-17 jets arrived in Hanoi from China last Friday.

Castro Wants Action On Freighter Bombing

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro blamed "cynical and shameless imperialists" today for the bombing of the Cuban freighter Maria Teresa yesterday in Montreal.

TWO-HOUR SPEECH

In a two-hour speech to an irrigation and drainage convention, Castro said Canadian authorities should track down and punish the persons responsible for the bombing.

The bomb caused neither casualties nor damage to the 1,091-ton freighter.

A Cuban refugee organization with headquarters in New York claimed credit for the token attack.

In his speech, which was devoted almost entirely to domestic affairs, Castro also renewed his praise of Mexico for refusing to go along with other new-world nations in imposing sanctions on his government.

He denounced the U.S. attack on Communist bases in North Viet Nam, which he said should serve as a warning to Cubans "to increase our vigilance and our hate."

Jurist Won't Block Civil Rights Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice Hugo L. Black of the U.S. Supreme Court refused Monday to block enforcement of the public accommodations section of the new Civil Rights Act.

The jurist turned down a request by an Atlanta motel and a restaurant there for an order staying effectiveness of a decision that the section is constitutional.

The two firms said in petitions put before Black that they would be irreparably injured if they were not granted a stay pending final action by the Supreme Court of Appeals to be filed later.

The decision upholding validity of the section was by a special three-judge federal tribunal in Atlanta. The cases represented the first tests under the new law.

UNJUSTIFIABLE

Black, in a three-page memorandum, issued in connection with his refusal, said: "A judicial restraint of the enforcement of one of the most important sections of the civil rights act would, in my judgment, be unjustifiable."

Moon Craters Still Mystery

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Ranger 7's historic closeup photographs of the moon left unanswered the most important questions about its surface—are its craters caused by volcanic eruptions or meteorites?—according to Jack Green of North American Aviation's space and information systems division.

"The pictures don't prove either theory of the origin of the large craters we already knew about, or of the very small ones the photographs have shown us for the first time," Green said Monday.

Inca City Biggest Yet Found

LIMA (AP)—Discovery of an Inca city four times larger than Machu Picchu, the fabled Inca ruins in southern Peru, was reported Saturday by Luis E. Valcarlos, president of Peru's National Institute of Archaeology.

Newspapers said a group of about 50 made the discovery during a 31-day trek to the legendary Vilcabamba Grande, 186 miles northwest of the last refuge of the Inca emperor, Manco II.

The city was said to cover 74 acres at the edge of a precipice on the Rio Chontapampa. The explorers found fragments of ceramics of the type used by the Incas, as well as vases and tubes of copper.

AL MILLAR
... a good start

Al Millar, All-Star Goalie First of New Maple Leafs

Victoria Maple Leafs of the Western Hockey League should have no worries about their goaltending this season.

Assigned to the Victoria club yesterday by Toronto Maple Leafs was Al Millar, veteran puck-stopper who has won all-star honors in two of his three WHL seasons and last season led Denver Invaders to the league championship.

Announcement that Millar is to join the Victoria club was made yesterday by general manager Buck Houle.

Houle also stated that he expects to have 17 players on hand when coach Rudy Pilous arrives to take over his job on Sept. 11. A number of them will be amateur prospects owned by Toronto Maple Leafs, who are taking eight of last season's Denver club to their Peterborough training camp.

Getting a look from Toronto-headman Punch Imlach are Fred and Sandy Hucul, Gary Jarrett, Gordie Redahl, John Sleaver, Lou Jankowski, Mike Corbett and veteran Rudy Millar, who may be given a chance as a player-coach with another club.

HOME TO RETURN

They will report to the Toronto training camp on Sept. 5 and at least four of them are expected to be assigned to the Victoria club at a later date. Pilous will be on hand at Peterborough before coming to Victoria to open the Victoria training camp on Sept. 15.

"Final makeup of our club will probably not be known until some time after we open our training camp," Houle said yesterday. "We will have to wait until decisions have been made at Peterborough but I'm certain that Victoria fans can count on having an excellent club."

QUANTITY IS THERE

Toronto will have 72 players at Peterborough—seven goalkeepers, 18 defencemen and 47 forwards. Those which are not kept by the parent NHL club will be allocated to farm clubs—Rochester in the American Hockey League, Tulsa in the Central Professional Hockey League and Victoria.

Millar, who will be 35 just three days after the opening of training camp at Memorial Arena, started his professional career in 1950 at New Haven in the AHL. He also played with Kansas City in the defunct USHL and Portland in the PCHL in his first season.

MAINLY IN QHL

Before coming to the WHL three seasons back, Millar spent most of his time in the Quebec Hockey League, getting parts of two seasons in the AHL and filling in for Boston Bruins for six games of NHL play in the 1957-58 season.

At Seattle in 1961-62, Millar was named as the outstanding goalkeeper and selected to the all-star club, playing 36 games and allowing an average of 3.14 goals per game.

He remained in Seattle for the 1962-63 season and turned in a standout job, then went to Denver last season to repeat his 1961-62 performance. He played all 70 games for the Invaders and had a league-leading goals-against average of 2.89.

TICKET SALE

General sale of season tickets for the 35 home games of the Maple Leafs will start next Monday, by which time all persons who placed their names on a priority list will have been given the chance to exercise their priority on choice of seats.

About 700 seats were requested by fans getting an early jump and early indications are that most will carry out early intentions of attending every game.

Mighty Mite Scores Record Bests Palmer

CHICAGO—Arnold Palmer is still the man to beat in any golf tournament, but it seems there's always someone coming up with the score to do it.

Sunday it was Chi Chi Rodriguez, the 120-pound Puerto Rican, who deprived Palmer of victory in the $45,000 Western Open at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter course.

And Rodriguez had to shatter a record to do it. His closing 67 gave him a 72-hole total of 268, 16 under par and one under the previous 72-hole record for Tam O'Shanter, set by Byron Nelson in 1945.

It also tied the all-time low for the Western Open, a 268 shot by Sam Snead in 1949 at St. Paul, and was the lowest PGA tournament total of the year.

HAS THE ANSWER

Rodriguez and Palmer set out on the final round all even at 201, and both started slowly. Palmer going out in 35 and Rodriguez, playing two or three holes ahead, dropping back with a 38.

Palmer made his move but Rodriguez made a better one, getting birdies on the 65th, 66th and 67th holes with putts of three, 12 and 15 feet and on the 501-yard 69th with two putts from the edge of the green.

Rodriguez was in with his 67 when Palmer started the 71st hole one stroke behind. Palmer, playing it all out as usual, went for the pin, placed near the top of the green, with his second shot. He shot over into the crowd, chipped back too sturdily and two-putted from 35 feet.

HE TRIED

It left him needing an eagle to tie the Rodriguez. Palmer gave it his all, his second being directly on line but stopping about 10 feet short. He got his birdie but the bogey on the second hole had done him in.

Oak Bay XI Takes Over Cricket Lead

Oak Bay defeated Alcos by 59 runs Sunday to jump into first place in the Victoria and District Cricket Association standings, three points ahead of Cowichan.

Bays scored 132 runs in their innings and retired Alcos for 73.

Another Sunday match was postponed and the Possibles vs. Probables match scheduled for Aug. 16 has been cancelled.

Rodriguez became the sixth leading money-winner, the $11,000 first prize boosting his total for the year to $46,610.

Palmer collected $5,750, gaining a bit on Jack Nicklaus and jumping to $30,422 for the year. Nicklaus added $3,300 by sharing third place with Don Massengale to boost his total to $36,217.

Wakeham Decides To Stay Amateur

COQUITLAM — Victoria's Bill Wakeham, turned down the $1,500 boat he won as a prize for firing a hole-in-one in the B.C. Open golf tournament which wound up here Sunday.

After Wakeham scored the ace in Saturday's round, there was considerable speculation that he might accept the boat and turn professional. Amateurs cannot accept prizes worth more than $200.

Wakeham finished the tournament with a 74-73-70-217, nine strokes behind winner Ken Still of Tacoma. Still picked up $1,000 for his eight-under-par 208.

Morrisons capped their weekend of slugging by eliminating Langford 11-6 in the final of the double knockout tournament Sunday at Heywood Avenue. Langford defeated Nanaimo, 4-1, earlier to reach the final.

Wants Fight, Not Flattery

NEW YORK (AP)—Doug Jones said Monday it was flattery to be ranked the No. 1 heavyweight contender but it didn't mean much if he couldn't get a shot at the title.

"If the World Boxing Association wants to make it worthwhile they ought to make Cassius Clay defend the title against me instead of fighting a return with Sonny Liston," said the 27-year-old New Yorker.

Garden Notes

Leave the Leaves

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

My wife, like most good wives, has a positive passion for neatness and order, and nothing irritates her more than to find things out of place and untidy. Occasionally this phobia for neatness overflows the house and into the garden, sometimes with disastrous results.

Our peonies have long since finished blooming, but like so many of my fellow lazy gardeners, I just haven't got around yet to snipping off the faded brown blooms. I have to admit they look like death warmed over, and the bushes are beginning to sprawl in an untidy fashion for want of staking, so when I got home from the office yesterday I found my wife just about to tidy up the peonies by cutting them down to soil level with a sharp kitchen knife. Needless to say, this operation has been postponed until fall.

Most of the garden books will tell you that when the perennials have finished blooming, they may be trimmed, or at least have their faded flowers removed, but a lot of home gardeners read into this a meaning that was never intended, and feeling that the plant has done its job for this season, they cut the whole thing right down to the ground.

This is nothing short of a tragedy, and many a delphinium, phlox, bleeding heart, peony or other perennial has suffered from this kind of heavy-handed treatment.

Try to remember that these plants have done only part of their year's work as yet. They have bloomed, true, and in producing flowers they have pretty well exhausted the supply of food stored up in their roots and tissues. If more blooms are to be expected next year, the food store must be replenished; they still have to pump up their roots with enough nourishment to carry them safely through the winter months.

In this, they are rather like the bear, which has to stuff itself silly through the fall months to accumulate enough fat in its body to maintain the spark of life through the winter hibernating period.

As I have pointed out before, the leaves of any plant are food factories, powered by sunlight, in which simple soil chemicals pumped up by the roots are converted into true plant food. Some of this is used to make new leaves, new branches, new shoots, but a good portion is returned to the roots to be stored, just as the bear stores fat in its body.

Every healthy leaf is needed for the building up of this underground storehouse of nutrients, which alone can keep the plant alive through the winter and produce healthy growth next spring. From this, you can see the folly of cutting the plants down to the ground in a passion for neatness. The foliage of all perennial plants—the food factories—must be maintained in good health and good working order as late into the fall as possible.

This rule is especially important in the case of lilies. Cut off the faded flowers before they can make seed pods, by all means, for it is a waste of perfectly good food and energy to allow a plant to make unwanted seeds, but don't destroy one single leaf—not if you want good lilies next year.

For the Man Who Has Everything

Useless Titles Up for Sale

LONDON (AP)—Opportunity knocks: You too can become a lord of the manor. And all by the simple procedure of spending about $2,000—and outbidding other aspirants.

Eleven titles are going under the auctioneer's hammer at the Moot Hall, Colchester, Sept. 30.

The title "Lord of the Manor" goes back a thousand years or more. The ones on sale are comparatively new. They date from the 15th, 16th or 17th centuries.

The titles were bought up by Joseph Beaumont, grandfather of the present owner. Titles were a hobby of his. He bought more than 80 in Essex, Suffolk and Norfolk counties. His son bought more. Much of the collection has already been sold.

Let anyone become confused, the title "Lord of the Manor" has nothing to do with a peerage. It has almost no privileges connected with it. Further, there is no real property involved.

Unless you already have a title, you are still going to be called mister.

In olden days, before the commoners came into Parliament and took rights unto themselves, manor lords could fine tenants whose daughters married outside the manor. The manor was not only the lord's own house but also the lands and dwelling around it.

The manor lord could also exercise droit de seigneur—right of the lord to enjoy the first pleasures of the bridal bed in all marriages involving serfs within his manor.

These rights are gone forever, but the title still yields the freedom of grazing sheep on common lands. Any commoner today has the same right, however.

The titles up for sale are well documented. They include court rolls, surveys, court books, rentals and minute books that give a detailed account of their past histories.

They are the perfect gift—for someone who has everything.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Happiness Delayed

LONDON (NANA)—"To get a divorce," said George Peppard, who is getting a divorce, "is to be a failure at marriage, especially when you have married a fine woman." The Peppards' divorce will be final in January. The girl he loves, Elizabeth Ashley, does not yet have her divorce, but I understand from George that she will be getting one very soon. We were lunching at the White Elephant in London where George is co-starring in Operation Crossbow with John Mills, Tony Courtney, Maria Schell, Trevor Howard, Richard Todd, and, he hopes, Sophia Loren. He was quite distressed when I informed him that Sophia had told me in Rome she would not be doing the picture.

But to get back to the fascinating topic of the impending marriage of George and Miss Ashley: "Can it work," I asked, "when the husband and wife are both top actors and they might have to work far away from each other?" He sighed. "I'm in London, Liz is in Hollywood doing Ship of Fools. We are parted by 6,000 miles. I'm miserable about it. But I intend to find out if it's possible for an actor and actress to live together." And work apart.

There was the story that Peppard was feuding with Carroll Baker, his co-star in The Carpetbaggers. "How could I feud with Carroll," he protested, "when she played my mother in How the West Was Won?" At last some respect for mothers! This picture has been running for two years in London and is expected to go another five. When they like something here, they really like it. That Agatha Christie play The Mousetrap, is in its 13th year.

Going up to the fifth floor at the Excelsior Hotel, I stared and stared at a slender male in the elevator. And he stared and stared back. We recognized each other at the same second. He was Noel Coward, between yachts and Istanbul and all the exciting life he leads. It was late but I went to the suite of the famed 64-year-old talented charmer. I was in his Year of Grace years and years ago. And we went through the whole repertoire. Noel will be back in England early in the fall, to put on a revival of two of his shows—Hay Fever, a big hit of the 20s.

Edith Evans, veteran British actress will be starring. The once very controversial show will be sponsored by Sir Laurence Olivier and the National Theatre—at the Old Vic... And a week later, the first night for the London Company of Noel's New York hit High Spirits. With Cleely Courtneidge playing Madame Arcati—Bea Lillie is hilarious in the role in New York.

Noel and I discussed the discipline of the old timers, and I remembered that on the same evening that Marlene Dietrich was taking 30 curtain calls in Moscow, Judy Garland was staggering on stage in Australia. And we remembered why Marilyn Monroe found it so difficult to report for work in the morning. She would take so many sleeping pills at night that it was noon before she could function. Stars like Rex Harrison and Charlton Heston are always on time at the set, and always know their lines. Discipline is all-important for the stage and screen. So many of the new stars have never heard of it.

Zsa Zsa Gabor will be heading for the last round-up if she doesn't manage to calm down. For some reason she is convinced that the movie version of The Pumpkin Eater parallels her own life. And she called producer Jimmy Woolf on the phone in London to say she was suing him for $2,000,000 and she hoped it would make no difference to their friendship! Of course the story of a woman who raises a large number of children and lives in a barn has absolutely no connection with any part of Miss Gabor's life. "I'd rather she didn't spread this erroneous impression," Mr. Woolf told me. "If they think it is Zsa Zsa's life story, it will keep the public away."

I Like Being a Knight

STANTON
DELAPLANE

Anybody can make wine. You just get some grapes and jump on them. Take the juice that runs out and put it in a cask. After it ferments for awhile, bottle it.

Put it in a cool cellar for a year. Light a couple of candles and open a bottle and—O, Sushannah! Liquid gold.

Anybody can make wine. But not everybody knows how to drink it. Fortunately some years ago, I was made a Knight of the Brotherhood of Wine-tasting.

This is a French club. With your membership in the Confrerie des Chevaliers du Tastevin—(a grapey name it itself)—you get a wine tasting cup and a pretty gaudy robe. You make a little speech. I made mine in the town of Nuits-St. George in France, and bless me, if I can remember what I said.

You have to taste quite a bit of wine before you make your initiation speech. It was a wonderful evening. I like being a knight.

It is a healthy brotherhood. You cannot smoke during a wine-tasting dinner. It does something to the palate.

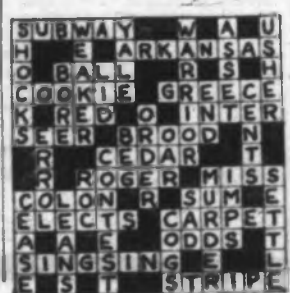

The brotherhood is not interested in your health. They just don't want your taste buds all mixed up. Consequently, at meetings of the Confrerie, I always have to go out and make several phone calls.

Being a knight is no cinch. I hate myself for sneaking away to the phone booth.

However, all knights have their weaknesses. Look at Lancelot with Guinevere.

If knights are not wearing robes, they wear a little ribbon in the lapel.

Answer to Sunday's Crypt-A-Crossword

This ribbon looks like the ribbon of the French Underground. Only the colors are reversed, that's all.

Most of our wine-tasting is done in wine cellars. So, in a way, we ARE the French Underground. If somebody makes a mistake and says: "Is that the French Underground ribbon?"—I don't try to correct them.

I just look a little sad. Like a person who has too many memories.

This is not so hard to do when you've been wine-tasting. It's one of the nice things about being in the brotherhood.

"Wine rejoices the heart of men, and joy is the mother of all virtue."

That is our knighthood, all right.

Anybody can make wine. But the brotherhood works on it like a jury. A knight has many responsibilities. Even a knight with weaknesses.

One of my weaknesses is that I like to put ice in my wine. Once, while wine-tasting, I even SAID so.

I nearly lost my tasting cup and robes. Nearly un-knighted. But I said I was only joking. That was a close one.

Bennett Rejects Offer To Share Bank Investment

Declaring that he is a millionaire in terms of supporters only, Premier Bennett Monday rejected a proposal by Liberal member of the legislature that they split a $10,000,000 investment to start a new bank.

Liberal Gordon Gibson of North Vancouver proposed last week that he and Premier Bennett each put up $5,000,000 to start the Bank of British Columbia. The pair would sell their shares in a year and the shareholders would name a board of directors.

He said the proposal would overcome objections to participation by the Social Credit government in the proposed bank which has not yet received approval from the Senate.

Mr. Bennett commented that Mr. Gibson is a millionaire from money.

"I'm a millionaire as far as people, supporters, are concerned. I take it as a great compliment but I will have no coalition with the Liberals."

Mr. Gibson said later that he will help the government in any way to get the bank started. He would make the government a new offer.

"We need the bank. There's no politics involved in my offer. I just want to see it get started. The only thing standing in the way of our getting a federal charter is Bennett himself and the Quebec Creditists."

Measures Aimed To Halt Anthrax

OTTAWA (CP) — Resources Minister Laing announced measures to control the current anthrax outbreak in huge Wood Buffalo National Park and adjacent areas in the Northwest Territories.

The measures call for vaccination of the buffalo in all contaminated areas and other regions of the 17,300 acres of the park situated on the boundary between Alberta and the territories.

Regatta Distance Winner

Launched in Seattle only three days before sailing for Victoria, Adelante, with Maltese cross unfurled, won distance race of last weekend's RCN sailing regatta held from Esquimalt harbor. The Adelante also won the best ship in B class trophy. Elated owner-skipper Bates McKee, Seattle Yacht Club, plans to bring back ship next year for May Swiftsure races. — (James A. McVie)

May Bid on Peace Project

Austrian Firms Interested In B.C. Power Development

The Austrian ambassador to Canada will discuss B.C.'s power development today when he visits Premier Bennett in Victoria.

Franz H. Leitner said Monday he "imagines" Austrian firms would be interested in bidding on power developments in the province.

"Austria is one of the leading hydro-electric power countries in Europe, and we have a great know-how in this respect," he said.

"I could well imagine close co-operation between Austrian and Canadian firms."

TALKED TO QUEBEC — The ambassador has already discussed power development with Premier Lesage of Quebec.

His announcement that Austrian firms will possibly bid on Canadian projects, came in the wake of a report in the Japan Economic Journal that bids from all over the world could be expected when the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority calls tenders for 19 turbine wheels to spin generators in Portage Mountain Dam.

WORLD'S LARGEST — The dam generating facilities, which will be the world's largest when completed in 1968, will have a power output of 2,300,000 kilowatts.

The Japanese journal reported that three of Japan's leading electrical machinery firms have decided to enter bids to supply the turbine wheels.

OTHERS INTERESTED

It said other firms interested are: General Electric, Westinghouse, Allis-Chalmers, English Electric, Siemens (of West Germany), Dominion, Canadian General Electric, and Canadian Allis-Chalmers.

The dam is presently under construction on the Peace River in northern British Columbia.

DEEP LIFE — Sea anemones have been brought to the surface from depths of up to 3,462 feet.

Two Victorians Plead Guilty On Bet Counts

Two men appeared in city police court Monday morning and pleaded guilty to charges involving a betting house.

James C. Spencer, 1723 Denman, pleaded guilty to keeping a betting house and was remanded until today for sentence.

SEARCH WARRANT

Det. Lester Clark said he entered the accused's home on a search warrant and found on a desk in a basement room, two telephones, a typewriter, books and papers related to betting.

The accused admitted using the machine to type some of the sheets which police found.

The Crown presented evidence of five previous convictions for recording bets dating back to 1952.

FOUND-IN FINED

Also found in the Denman Street house when it was raided shortly after 3 p.m., Saturday, was Wallace L. Chrane, who pleaded guilty to being found in a betting house and was fined $75.

The Crown reported he had had no previous convictions for recording bets in 1961 and 1963.

World's Second Largest

Approval Coming For Telescope

Odgers

First step toward erection in B.C. of the second largest telescope in the world—approval of the project and approval of location—is expected to be announced from Ottawa shortly.

Prior to the Dominion cabinet decision, Dr. G. H. Odgers, senior scientific officer of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain, expects to be called to Ottawa to put forth his recommendations.

Several sites are under consideration in the Okanagan and Kamloops areas and also some very high mountain sites close to the B.C.-Alberta border.

Dr. Odgers has been looking for suitable sites over the past 21 months, travelling by Land Rover and carrying a portable telescope. On his last trip he was accompanied by Dr. Ira S. Bowen of Mount Palomar Observatory, California.

The world's largest telescope is located at Palomar. It is 200 inches in diameter. The one proposed by the Dominion Observatory would be of at least 150 inches.

Dr. Odgers said the Ottawa decision as to whether the project will be approved is expected "very shortly, sometime this month."

Rules Changed For Canadians

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—The state fisheries department cut back the amount of commercial fishing time in the north part of Puget Sound to one day this week to give Canadians more fishing time.

Gill nets may fish from 6 p.m. Wednesday - 8 a.m. Thursday and purse seines and reef nets may fish from 4 a.m. - 6 p.m. Thursday, a loss of one day for all.

The department said the reduction was to give Canadian fishermen a chance to catch up with American fishermen, who were ahead by 165,000 sockeye salmon as of the middle of last week.

DOOR FORCED

Thieves forced a rear door at Cloverdale Fish and Chips overnight Sunday and made off with cigarettes, chocolate bars, chewing gum and some small change.

Unfounded and Exaggerated

Report by Acapulco Newspaper

Blood and Scandal Denied by Navy

Reports of "numerous scandals and bloody incidents" involving men of four RCN destroyers in Acapulco, Mexico, were denied Monday by Capt. R. H. Chicken, Chief of Staff of RCN Pacific Command.

He said the reports—published in a Mexican newspaper—were unfounded and greatly exaggerated.

Acapulco's only English-language newspaper, the weekly 'Acapulco News', reported "numerous scandals and bloody incidents, not only in the red-light district, but in leading downtown establishments" during the visit July 20 of the destroyers, Fraser, Qu'Appelle, Margaree and MacKenzie.

It criticized commanding officers for what it described as a "great lack of discipline."

But Monday night, Captain

Chicken, who said he had seen the newspaper, denied the reports.

"If anything untoward had happened, the commanding officers would have reported it to me," he said.

He said he had spoken to commanding officers of the four destroyers Monday, and they reported that Acapulco officials—the chief of police, chief magistrate and military officials—who had visited the ships, had remarked upon the good behavior of the men.

"The only foundation for use of the word 'bloody' in the story," said Capt. Chicken, "was that during the stay two of the men were attacked and robbed of a camera and money in the poorer section of the port."

"The four ships also visited

Vancouver and San Diego, and there were no reports of bad behavior from here, either."

"Certainly, if there had been any incidents of a serious nature at all, the commanding officers would have been obliged to report them."

With 'Second Look'

High-Rise Plan Gains Approval

By BOB PETHICK

A $500,000 high rise apartment with a rooftop restaurant moved two steps closer to construction after action by Esquimalt council Monday night.

Council set a $5,000 price tag on a lot near Head Street between Wollaston and Esquimalt where M & H Holdings plans construction of a six-storey apartment and decided to take a second look at whether a restaurant should be allowed at the top of the building.

M & H Holdings already has options on five neighboring lots and required the sixth lot, which was municipally-owned to balance the area as an apartment site.

Councillors earlier felt providing the restaurant with supplies would work a hardship on the tenants of the apartment building and doubted the rooftop location was a good idea.

'NOT CONCERNED'

Coun. James Bryant started the reversal of opinion on the restaurant location.

"I am not convinced that this restaurant on top is a bad idea."

He added he thought providing the restaurant with supplies without disturbing the tenants was the builder's problem and out of council's line of business.

WANTS PLANS Council agreed and decided it would look favorably on amending the high rise bylaw to permit a rooftop restaurant providing the builder produced plans of the restaurant that would meet with council's favor.

In an earlier submission to council M & H Holdings pointed out a rooftop restaurant would offer patrons an almost unparalleled view of the Olympics and surrounding scenery.

Engineer Eric Hoei, of M & H at last council meeting pointed out construction of the rooftop restaurant represented a pioneering step in Victoria building and presented a challenge to the builder.

"We would not like the whole project to be squashed simply because the builders were not able to have a restaurant on the roof," said Coun. Arthur Mebs.

Tourists Big Spenders

Afloat or Ashore Money Still Flows

The yachts and boats that crowd Victoria's Inner Harbor throughout the summer months may be taken for granted by many passers-by, as part of the local scenery.

But although they may be part of the city waterfront scenery, they're an integral part of the tourist trade.

Often, the yachtsmen who visit from the United States and the mainland are the biggest spenders of all.

While moored in the Inner Harbor, yacht owners spend thousands of dollars a season buying food, presents, souvenirs and even luxuries for themselves.

As an outstanding example, Robert W. Thomas, of Los Angeles, here with his wife and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Dimmock, aboard the 34-foot cruiser Folbie from Seattle, spent $400 Monday.

"I just went ashore for a quick stroll," said Mr. Dimmock, "and I ended up buying $400 worth of clothes."

Mr. Dimmock, vice president and general manager of a Los Angeles X-Ray company, skips per Mr. Thomas and his wives on a five-week cruise around Vancouver Island and the Queen Charlottes.

"We really enjoy it up here," said Mr. Dimmock. "We find the people so hospitable and the scenery's great."

One big attraction for yachtsmen at the Inner Harbor is they know they'll meet other boating acquaintances there.

Moored alongside the Folbie was the 40-foot cruiser Margaree. Aboard were friends of the Dimmocks, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Beamish of New Westminster, with their daughters Jocelyne, 15 and Beverley, 13.

Regular visitor to Victoria is W. A. O'Neill of Seattle, a U.S. coast guard search and rescue officer who covers the area from the San Juan Islands, south to Olympia.

In his 26-foot cruiser, usually with his wife and 26-year-old daughter or 27-year-old son, Mr.

O'Neill sails to Victoria three or four times a year.

"I spend about $130 ashore on average practically every time we're here," said Mr. O'Neill. "That's on food and luxuries."

"Quite often, there's around 60 boats from Seattle all here at one time."

One visiting vessel with a $65 weekly bill on food alone is the 48-foot yacht Courageous, from Seattle.

Aboard are 14 children from the Four Winds Camp on Orcas Island.

The children, aged between 11 and 16, are from Seattle, Portland, Vancouver, California, Nebraska—and even one from Italy.

Skipper is Franz Gruber of Seattle and counsellor is Sally Timmins, 3450 Richmond, Victoria, a teacher at George Jay School.

With a $65-a-week food bill, the children can also be put in the big-spender bracket—that's apart from all the pop, ice cream and candies they buy while ashore.

Woman Given Blast Payment

Mrs. Kathleen Speirs, of 471 Nelson, was awarded the sum of $4.95 by Esquimalt council after she complained a dish had been broken in her home during a blasting operation by Esquimalt municipality.

A Producer's Holiday Recipe

The man responsible for some of the most glamorous movies in the world has a simple prescription for a holiday which started Monday in Victoria: to loaf, to sleep and to read.

He is Arthur Freed, producer of Gigi, An American in Paris, Showboat and Annie Get Your Gun. The two-time Oscar-winning producer is also the president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

His next production is the story of Irving Berlin. The song-writer will not be starred in person, but will work with Mr. Freed. The film will be called Say It With Music and will feature new as well as old songs by Mr. Berlin, said the producer.

"I haven't signed up the actors and actresses yet, except for Julie Andrews," said Mr. Freed.

One of the producer's favorite recent pictures is Tony Richardson's 'Tom Jones.' "I like the fresh treatment. The different picture is the good picture," he said.

When not loafing, sleeping or reading at his room in the Empress Hotel, Mr. Freed thinks he'll take a car "and just drive around, probably see the Butchart Gardens."

He doesn't plan to go fishing, but says he just might take a Tally-Ho ride for some leisurely views of the sea.

"I'm just ad-libbing. I have no itinerary or agenda. I'm here to recharge my batteries," he concluded.

Plaque for 'Pig War'

A century-old border dispute between the United States and Canada was recalled with a simple plaque-dedicating ceremony on San Juan Island at Roche Harbor Sunday.

Standing in an old tree-shaded cemetery, 30 University Naval Training Division cadets from across Canada under the command of Lt.-Cmdr. Eric Sadler watched as a two-foot-square aluminum plaque was dedicated to the memory of seven Royal Marines and a civilian who died while stationed with the British garrison from 1860 to 1872.

BULLETINS WAR

The plaque was placed there for the Maritime Museum of British Columbia, and the ceremony brought back memories of the bulletless Pig War—a dispute between the United States and Great Britain over a boundary line—which started in 1859.

It all began when an American farmer killed a pig belonging to an American resident and was brought before a British justice of the peace.

83 TROOPS EACH

Before the dispute was finally resolved, British and American settlers voiced peevish at one another and

Britain and the United States garrisoned 85 troops each on the island. There was never any battle and the troops remained until 1872, when the border was agreed upon.

The property in which the cemetery lies is part of 130

acres purchased by the Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission last year from James Crook, 96, an island resident for 94 years.

It was he who tended the graves.

The UNTD cadets presented

the plaque to Washington State historian Lloyd Bell.

It will be placed on a sandstone cairn built by the cadets.

Representing the museum were director Col. John Symons and secretary Cmdr. Fred Grubb.

James Crook, 96, watches with his sister, Mrs. Hannah Andrews, and Lt.-Cmdr. Eric Sadler.

Fugitive Nabbed At Sea

Saanich residents were wondering Monday what became of the liquor store promised them by the provincial government.

But which government is responsible—municipal or provincial—was not clear Monday.

Liquor Control Commissioner Donald McGugan said the matter was "in the hands of Saanich council."

WANT ASSURANCE

But planner Thomas Loney said Saanich would not begin rezoning until it had some firm assurance that the Liquor Control Board favored one or other of three prospective sites.

Meanwhile all Reeve Stanley Murphy would say last night was: "It's a rezoning problem still to be solved. I have no idea when it will be discussed."

WANT ACTION

Residents, however want action.

It's about time the politicians stopped stalling and got down to business, says Mrs. Nora Lindsay, leader of a 28-strong ratepayers' committee.

Accompanied by Coun. Hugh Curtis, they took a 4,000-name petition to Attorney-General Bonner Feb. 10.

'BADLY NEEDED'

"I felt then and I feel now that it is badly needed in Saanich and I hope the government will get one established with all possible speed," says Coun. Curtis.

Three possible sites, sifted from public suggestions, says Mr. Loney, are: Town and Country Shopping Centre, Quadra-McKenzie area and Shelbourne district.

SPECIAL ZONING

Mr. Loney said he thought the Liquor Control Board had originally favored the Town and Country site.

All that would be needed to establish the store there would be council permission, he said—while the others would require special rezoning.

"No one seems to know just what is happening," said an irate Mrs. Lindsay. "I can't understand the delay."

Sooke Store

"Long after the outcry arose for a Saanich store it was brought up in the legislature that a store was needed in the Sooke area. That store is open and doing business while we are still waiting. Why?"

Maybe her question will be answered at tonight's Lands and Planning Committee meeting...

A juvenile sought by three Greater Victoria police forces for several days was arrested by Saanich police about 2 p.m. Monday, as he headed for the San Juan Islands in a rowboat.

The 15-year-old, who escaped Wednesday from the city detention home where he was awaiting sentence for car theft, was picked up two miles from shore, off Arbutus Cove.

Police had received a number of reports of his appearances.

First he was reported seen by his father at about 5 a.m. Twenty minutes later he was reported to be in a car fleeing from police at high speeds.

The car chase ended on Feltham, when the car crashed. It had been taken from the home of J. L. Motherwell, 4097 Gordon Head Road.

The boy escaped on foot through the fields.

Shortly before noon, he was reported to be sitting on the beach at Telegraph Bay, and Saanich police with a dog went out after him. He headed out to sea in a rowboat. Police borrowed another boat and went after him.

Boy Suffers Slight Bump In Accident

David Cook, 5, 767 Meaford Road, Langford, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for examination Monday night after he ran in front of a car in Goldstream Road, near Peat Road. Driver Mrs. Barbara Fearon Higgins, of Gig Harbor, Washington was able to brake the car quickly and only visible injury to the boy was a slight bump on the head.

The boy was expected to be discharged after X-rays.

Old Medicine Sounds Potent

By JEAN SHARP

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Preventive medicine as practiced in rural Ontario in the 19th century sounds potent.

A pioneer home remedy calls for eight ounces of squaw vine (partridgeberry), four ounces of cranberry bark, eight ounces of slippery elm bark and one ounce of bloodroot.

"Put the above in an earthen vessel, add four quarts of water. Put on the back of the stove and keep warm for four days, then strain and add two pounds of crushed sugar. Simmer 20 minutes and add half a pint of gin. Bottle and cork."

"Take a glassful three times a day for six or eight weeks before expected illness."

The recipe is from the Tweedsmuir History compiled by the Women's Institute in Kars, Ont. It won a WI national competition this year.

Tweedsmuir Histories are chatty, human chronicles of Canada's rural communities and how they grew. About 2,000 WI branches across Canada have put together such histories.

Typical of the personal recollections is one by a WI writer in Glolys Ridge, Alta., describing the bachelor's bull as it was in the days when it was the annual school highlight of Okotoks, Alta.

Women didn't rely on low necklines and makeup to enhance their charms in those days, they depended on ribbons, lace and sequins, she says. And cowboys rode in for the event with evening clothes in gummy sacks on their saddles.

The history of the region around Clarendon, Que., describes farming methods before the middle of the 1900s.

"About all the farming equipment they had at first was a hoe made by a blacksmith. Using this, they hoed the ground between stumps and planted potatoes.

"Wheat was planted wherever there was space. Giant trees were felled and burned to acquire that space. It was threshed by being laid on a floor and beaten with a flail — two sticks loosely joined together with a strip of leather.

"Then on a windy day the grain was poured from one vessel to another over a clean quilt to separate it from the chaff."

Writing about Ferryland, Nfld., founded in 1622 and accessible only by sea until the First World War, Mary Elizabeth Clowe tells about a winter famine many years ago.

Her great-grandfather with several other men walked 40 miles for a sack of Indian meal, then returned home in relays, each man carrying the sack as far as he could before stopping to rest while others went on.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Thomas G. Simmons, 2184 Epworth Street, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Laura, to Mr. Robert Edgar Jobbins, son of Mrs. Jobbins and the late Mr. H. E. Jobbins, 252 Wildwood Avenue. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Sept. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. — (Chevrans)

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: This is not a gag. I think you are a broad-minded person with a big reading audience and I hope you will help me.

The high cost of living has put me behind the 8-ball. No matter how I try, it is impossible to maintain a good address, decent clothes, and have money left to drive a car and do some interesting things.

I am 29 years old, unmarried, very good looking, an engaging conversationalist and am at home with all types of people.

I would like to make myself available (to high type women only) for $30 an evening plus expenses. I want only to serve as an escort—so please don't assume anything beyond that. I have a new Corvette and well cut clothes.

Hundreds of women sit at home simply because they do not know an attractive, respectable man who will take them out. I could give a woman a wonderful evening in exchange for this modest stipend.

Will you help me to help them and myself at the same time?—R.M.

Dear R.M.: I can't think of a printable name to describe your line of work, but "escort service" is a widely employed euphemism. Look in the phone book and line yourself up. (Your city has one.)

P.S. If a dame doesn't have $30, how much would you charge for allowing her to stand at the curb and watch you drive by?

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 12-year-old girl with a four-year-old problem—my brother.

He is a very good eater when it comes to candy, ice cream and popovers, but when it comes to regular meals he leaves half of his meat and doesn't even touch his vegetables. He hardly ever drinks his milk.

Fifteen minutes after he walks away from the dinner table he is begging mom for popcorn or a glass of lemonade. How come he has room for such things when just a little while before he said he couldn't eat another bite?

My brother is very skinny and I am afraid he will not grow if he doesn't eat right. I have tried to explain this to him but he doesn't understand. Will you help me?—SISTER OF A SKINNY BROTHER.

Dear Sister: You cannot expect a four-year-old to understand such things, so stop wasting your time. Concentrate on your mother.

Couple Wed At Brentwood

Miss Joan Moore, daughter of Mr. F. W. Moore, 150 Douglas Street, and the late Mrs. Moore, became the bride of Mr. James G. Mitchell, at a quiet wedding in Brentwood Chapel. Canon R. E. H. Howell officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore an empire-style short gown of white organza over tulle with lace bodice. She carried garnet roses and white stephanotis.

Mrs. Betty Davidson of Winfield, B.C., who was the bride's only attendant, wore a pink silk dress with lace overblouse.

Mr. Alan Ford was best man. A family reception followed at the home of the bride.

For travelling the new Mrs. Mitchell wore a blue Italian-knit suit with beige accessories.

The newlyweds will make their home in Victoria.

Mrs. T. H. Milson came from Fincher Creek, Alta., for her niece's wedding.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Loretta MacCallum, Moncton, N.B.; Miss Elsie Miller, Toronto; Miss Susan Hansen, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. G. Walls, Vancouver; and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Brandon and family, Port Mellon, B.C.

She is permitting your little brother to develop some mighty poor eating habits. Children who don't finish their meat and vegetables should not be allowed to fill up between meals on candy and lemonade.

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter is 20 years of age. Alicia's divorce will be final in a few months.

This is our problem: Alicia has been working out of the state. She met a young man and wants to marry him. She has written to ask us if she may bring the young man home with her when she returns in about a month. Alicia wants permission to have him live in our house.

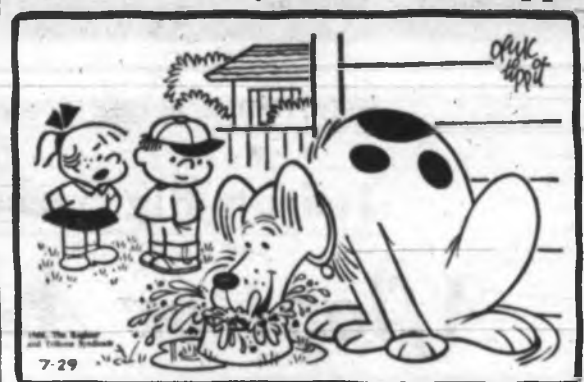

My husband says this arrangement sounds scandalous and he refuses to consider the idea unless you approve it, Ann. I don't know what to say because I realize these things have changed since I was a girl and I want to be fair. Can you advise us?—OLD FASHIONED.

Dear Old Fashioned: How lucky can one girl get? Not even legally divorced from one man and here she has another man (unemployed yet) all lined up to move in. Tell your daughter nix on the boardroom routine.

A person who is not legally divorced is still married. And folks who are NOT married should not be living together. This should put an end to the Great Debate.

Mr. Glen Atkinson was soloist and sang "Because and The Lord's Prayer."

After a reception in Holyrood House the young couple left to spend a honeymoon in the interior of B.C. The bride's going-away ensemble was a shocking pink Italian knit with matching floral hat and bone accessories. They will make their home at 2129 Florence Street.

Questions Await Pickersgill

Location of the proposed Department of Transport multi-million-dollar marine complex, planned for Victoria, will be among the pertinent questions asked Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill here on Friday.

Mayor R. E. Wilson said he hoped to have a talk when the federal minister arrives here for the opening of the new airport terminal.

Where and when the Dominion government will build a new office block to house national unemployment service staff and taxation branches may be another question asked Mr. Pickersgill.

Bridge Work Closes Road

Two Victims Of Gunman Continue Trip

Two tourist victims of a gunman in the Empress Hotel Saturday left for the next lap of their journey through Canada, shaken by their harrowing experience. They had just checked into their room when a man described as "nice-looking, well-dressed and young" entered and demanded money.

He punched Miss Julia Yates, 65, of Winter Park, Fla., in the face six times after he found her carrying only change in her purse.

From Mrs. L. P. Kiser, 61, of Valrico, Fla., he took $40 and when she tried to phone for help he struck her in the face. "I am bruised and aching," said Miss Yates Monday, "but you ought to see the shiner he gave Mrs. Kiser."

Miss Yates said they had always thought of Victoria as a quiet place.

The north Island road to Port Hardy was closed at the weekend because Crown Zellerbach was repairing the East Fork Bridge on its part of the road between Bonanza Lake and Beaver Cove.

Company officials Monday expressed regret that some people were inconvenienced because of lack of notice of the closure.

LIABON BREAKDOWN

Difficulties caused by control of the road by four different timber companies have resulted in a breakdown in liaison, but the companies are attempting to remedy that situation.

They expect within the next few weeks to appoint a road administrator who will be responsible for all problems of access concerning the road through all four timber operations.

Crown Zellerbach officials said they are hurrying the bridge repairs and expect to have the road open this weekend.

Dog Wandered Off

Young Deaf Girl Waits for Her 'Pal'

Little Eileen Olson, 10, is awaiting the return of a life-long pal—Susie, her nine-year-old dog.

The little black Chihuahua-terrier cross wandered off unnoticed while Eileen, who is deaf, and her father, Fred Olson of Lake Cowichan, were camping near Chemainus River. "I think she wandered off towards the highway," said Mr. Olson Monday. "She may have been picked up as lost by some passing tourists."

"But with Eileen being deaf, I can hardly explain where her dog has gone. She keeps hoping he will come back and can't understand where he is."

Anyone who has knowledge of the dog's whereabouts can inform Mr. Olson's mother-in-law, Mrs. Neil Smith, at 748-8339 or call the Red Rooster Cafe, Westholme.

Mr. Olson will be returning home from the camping trip in a week and will then be available at Box 707 or 748-6847, at Cowichan.

Hoover Turns Ninety

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International

Herbert Hoover was 90 years old Monday. No doubt some of his loving friends are thinking of the future in terms of a suitable monument to this man who properly can be described as the first citizen of the U.S. Republic.

Hoover would be the first to discourage that. There is no need for the establishment in his behalf of a national shrine or the erection of a vast monument as a reminder that Hoover lived. No shrine or monument could equal the unadorned record of Herbert Hoover's good works.

Just published by Stanford University's Hoover Institute on War, Revolution and Peace is a red-jacketed pamphlet. It consists of 40 tightly-filled pages. They merely list the scores of public positions occupied by and honors bestowed on Herbert Hoover in a long life devoted to the welfare of his fellow man.

That record of service is Herbert Hoover's monument. To know him well is to know this: That portion of his service to mankind most treasured by Herbert Hoover, and the one to which his thoughts most often turn, is the record of his good works for little children. There is, for example, a list of the agencies Hoover founded to help children, including these:

1914-1920—Canteen system for rehabilitation of 2,000,000 children in Belgium and northern France.

1919-1924—Canteen system of rehabilitation for 14,000,000 children in central and eastern Europe and Russia.

1946-1947—Canteen system for rehabilitation for 5,000,000 children in Germany.

Hoover's humanity comforted and sustained some 21,000,000 children in those three projects alone. It is no blasphemy to observe that he who comforts little children is walking in the way of the Lord. Jointly with others, Hoover founded the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. He had a part in establishing CARE.

Little third grade children in Brussels' school Moyenne Leon Le Page sent to Hoover in 1915 a book of thank you letters. His library contains collections of letters from primary school children in all parts of Europe. The children of Munich sent to him in 1947 a collection of drawings and expressions of thanks. And still they came: Mannheim, Dillingen, Wurttemberg—Baden, Schorndorf, Ludwigsburg.

There also was adult relief, of course. As recently as 1956-57, Herbert Hoover was serving as honorary chairman of First Aid for Hungary. He was the 1933-34 chairman for Finnish relief and Polish relief; 1940 chairman of a committee on food for the small democracies. Shortly after the Truman doctrine was proclaimed in 1947, Herbert Hoover was on the job as honorary chairman of the Greek War Relief Association.

Herbert Hoover's efforts were not confined to humanitarian projects. For Harry S. Truman in 1947, Hoover headed a bipartisan commission on organization of the executive branch of the government. In 1953-55 he headed a second Hoover commission for Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Second Russian Woman Ready for Space Trip?

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union hinted Monday that a new manned space flight is in the offing and that it may be made by a woman.

(In Turin, Italy, a radio listening post reported Monday that it had picked up radio signals from the Soviet Union which appeared to be part of a cosmonaut countdown. The report came from Italy's largest radio laboratory.)

The hints were contained in the government newspaper Izvestia amid unofficial reports that a space launching was being prepared.

Izvestia singled out Marina

Popovich, wife of cosmonaut Pavel Popovich, as a possibility to become the second woman to orbit the earth.

The first was Valentina Tereshkova, wife of cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev. Izvestia reported that Mrs. Popovich, who holds an airplane speed record, "has finished the higher aviation school and has now left for a distant business trip."

"The machine with which she is now familiarizing herself is considerably more powerful than the one in which she established a new record for speed two months ago," Popovich was quoted as saying.

To Improve Image

Employment Service Split from Insurance

VANCOUVER (CP)—The National Employment Service is to be taken from the wing of the Unemployment Insurance Commission and become a part of the labor department, Labor Minister MacEachen said here Monday night.

Mr. MacEachen told the International Association of Government Labor Officials that the employment service had been working under a cloud "because of its association with the negative aspect of unemployment insurance."

"This has certainly affected its public image and has to some extent limited its effectiveness," the minister said.

The basic aims of the employment service would remain the same after its transfer.

"But in arranging this move we will be able to make it easier for the employment service to provide the kind of service that is needed today, and to play its part more effectively in the organization of the labor market and the implementation of an active manpower policy."

By LOUIS HARRIS

Fully 85 per cent of the American people stand solidly behind President Lyndon Johnson's action in ordering an air strike on North Viet Nam PT boat bases, according to a just-completed survey of a cross-section of the public.

In a single stroke, Johnson has, at least temporarily, turned his greatest political vulnerability in foreign policy into one of his strongest assets.

These key facts emerged from this special survey taken immediately after the president's action:

● Word of the events in North Viet Nam spread quickly: 88 per cent of the public reported having followed the rapidly-moving developments; the remaining 12 per cent said they were not acquainted with them 24 to 48 hours later.

● In July before the turn of events, the Johnson administration was criticized by 58 per cent of Americans for the way Viet Nam was being handled. Today, the American people have sharply revised this estimate to a 72 per cent vote of confidence in the president's approach to Viet Nam.

● Before the attacks on U.S. naval vessels, public opinion was moving slowly toward favoring carrying the war to North Viet Nam. But a plurality of the public still opposed this step, fearing Red Chinese intervention. Now, those with opinions on the subject favor taking the war to North Viet Nam by a majority of two to one.

● Before the president's action, 59 per cent of the public thought Johnson could handle Viet Nam better than Sen. Barry Goldwater. This represented five points less than the 64 to 36 per cent lead Johnson had over Goldwater in the presidential race. Viet Nam was clearly an issue working for Goldwater. Today, Viet Nam has

HALIFAX (CP)—An 18-year-old Halifax youth gave himself up to police at an airport terminal here late Monday and was charged with the killing of two boys in the city's south end Saturday night. His name was withheld.

Knifer Spreads Terror At Sea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A ship in mid-Pacific radioed the U.S. Coast Guard here Monday night that her boatswain had stabbed one crew member to death and injured another while they slept and was terrorizing the rest of the crew with a knife.

The ship was identified as the St. Nicholas, which the coast guard said was of Lebanese registry.

The master gave his position as about 2,000 miles northwest of Honolulu, headed for Japan.

The coast guard gave the St. Nicholas the names of six other ships in the area which might have a doctor aboard, but none was within 500 miles. The coast guard also suggested to the master that he put in at the nearest naval base, Midway Island, if possible.

The coast guard and the navy checked the vast area for a military vessel which might be sent to the aid of the St. Nicholas.

Witness Terrified—Judge

VANCOUVER (CP)—County Court Judge R. A. Sargent declared Monday that a terrified crown witness had obviously been tampered with.

Crown counsel Donald Morrison was directed to refer the matter to the attorney-general. The witness, Donald Trudeau, was asked about vandalism in his Berolima Cabaret March 20.

The judge said Trudeau's answers were evasive and obviously made in a state of terror.

He convicted Frank (Red) Gardner, 34, and his brother Tony, 27, of malicious damage, and Frank Gardner guilty on another charge of possession of an offensive weapon. Both were remanded to Friday for sentence.

The judge said he found that a gang of men, including the two brothers, had entered the club armed with chains and sticks and had demolished the premises.

Another 55 Lumpas Killed

LUSAKA (Reuters)—Northern Rhodesian security forces Monday killed 55 more followers of the outlawed Lumpa church sect in a violent battle in the Northern Province, a government spokesman said Monday night. One soldier later died of wounds.

The spokesman said Monday's action brought the officially-confirmed death toll in both Northern and Eastern Provinces in more than two weeks of clashes to 491 killed and 344 wounded.

Prime Minister Kenneth Kaunda said earlier Monday he thought there had been outside interference in the Lumpa sect disturbances. "Definitely this has been exploited by some better informed minds, in the military sense."

The arrest ended a desperate 48-hour day-and-night search that started after three boys—11 and 12 years old—were shot down separately within 40 minutes. One boy survived and is recovering in hospital. The gunman is said to have ridden a bicycle.

TWO CHARGES

Police Chief Verdon Mitchell announced shortly after the youth was arrested that he had been charged with the capital murder of 11-year-old Gordon Hartling and 12-year-old James Squires.

The chief said the name of the arrested youth would not be made known until he is arraigned in court today.

AIRPORT TIP

Chief Mitchell said the arrest came as a result of information received by RCMP from employees of the Halifax International Airport, 25 miles outside the city. A team of city police and RCMP took the 18-year-old into custody.

After lengthy questioning by police, the charge of capital murder was laid. The chief said the youth was from "the Halifax

Savage Race Fight

Battle Scene Surrounded

BESSEMER, Ala. (UPI)—Armed deputy sheriffs threw a light cord around a predominantly Negro community early Monday after a savage interracial knife fight that saw a Negro man killed and four other persons wounded Sunday.

Eighteen deputies carrying shotguns encircled the town for several hours in the early morning sealing all three roads leading into Rainwood, on the outskirts of Bessemer, after the battle.

NO ARRESTS

Bessemer coroner Andy Vines issued a tentative ruling of "justifiable homicide" in the stabbing death of Bennie C. Gates, 23, a Negro. Gates received three large stab wounds in his left side and numerous small slashes in his body and face.

Involved in the fight with Gates were Benny Blake Hicks and his father, Lester Hicks, both white. They received minor cuts and bruises.

In other racial developments in the south, a private autopsy ordered by the family of one of three civil rights workers killed in Mississippi added to the controversy in the case.

WASNT BEATEN

A New York pathologist said his examination of the body of Michael Schwerner, 24, of Brooklyn, showed no evidence that the social worker was beaten before a bullet ended his life. An earlier private autopsy by the same pathologist on James Chaney, another of the victims, stated the Meridian, Miss., Negro was brutally beaten before or after three shots were fired into his body.

Bookies Find the Key To Teen-Age Pockets

LONDON (UPI)—A chain of British bookies is now taking bets on which entertainers will top the weekly best-selling record charts.

The Beatles quickly became 4-1 favorites, shortly after pop record charts were added Sunday to horse races, football games and other traditional gambling favorites at the 21 East London betting shops of William Massey.

Bill Newman, a co-director of the East London chain, said the betting was started after noting the habits of teen-agers. "They spend money in record shops, on clothes, and hair-dos—but they don't ever seem to bet," he said.

But betting on the Beatles seemed to be changing that. The firm's shops were crowded with teen-agers wagering on disc artists instead of horses.

Sporadic Gunfire

Cyprus Still Tense Despite Cease-Fire

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Turkey and the Greek Cypriots accepted a Cyprus cease-fire negotiated by the United Nations Monday, but sporadic gunfire continued in downtown Nicosia and northwest Cyprus. The uneasy truce was imperiled later Monday when the Greek Cypriots rejected a Turkish demand that Greek Cypriot troops withdraw from the northwest coast to positions held before the fighting erupted.

"IMPOSSIBLE"

A foreign ministry spokesman said the withdrawal was "psychologically impossible" because of heavy Greek Cypriot casualties there. "It is out of the question that we withdraw from the new positions and Turkey knows this," he said.

Both parties had notified the UN that they would abide by the peace plan, but Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu said Turkish compliance was conditional on the Greek Cypriots ending their incursions into Turkish territory.

Martin Hails Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin welcomed renewed pressure in Parliament Monday for wider powers and a larger United Nations force to keep the Cyprus crisis from growing into another world war. However, he warned during an emergency Commons debate that the UN cannot impose itself on the government of the Mediterranean island.

Defence Minister Hellyer said it is well understood by the United Nations that Canada would withdraw her troops from the UN peacekeeping force in Cyprus if they were ordered into a militarily indefensible position.

Head in Toilet

Murder Suspect Found Nearly Drowned in Cell

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man charged with two counts of capital murder almost drowned in his prison cell Sunday night. A guard pulled the man's head from a toilet bowl.

The incident occurred a little more than 24 hours after Ronald Eugene Ingram, a 34-year-old baker, was charged with a crime two years old.

FACES TWO CHARGES

He faces two counts of capital murder in the rifle slaying of sweetheart Diana Phipps and Leslie Dixon on Oct. 16, 1962. Their bodies were found in locations eight miles apart near Nanaimo, after they had been shot with a .22-calibre rifle.

Officials at Oakalla prison farm said Ingram was alone in a cell and the toilet had been plugged. A guard found him at 10:45 p.m. and called an inhalator squad.

UNDER CLOSE GUARD

No pulse was apparent but Ingram later responded to treatment and was placed under close guard in the prison hospital, where his condition Monday was satisfactory.

Couple Not Parents Of Accused Man

NANAIMO—Ronald Eugene Ingram, accused in the 1962 rifle slaying of Leslie Dixon and Diane Phipps, is not the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ingram, 1020 Beach Drive, Nanaimo, as reported in a front page story in the Sunday edition of The Daily Colonist.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingram are not related to the 34-year-old suspect, and The Daily Colonist regrets any inconvenience caused by the statement.

Helicopter Crashes

BLACKSTONE, Va. (AP)—A U.S. army helicopter with four men aboard, and reported to have been carrying explosives, crashed and caught fire Monday night on a farm about eight miles north of here.

The four men escaped from the wreckage and were taken to the army dispensary at nearby Camp Pickett.

Officers evacuated five families from homes near the crash scene.

Closes Road

The north Island road to Port Hardy was closed at the weekend because Crown Zellerbach was repairing the East Fork Bridge on its part of the road between Bonanza Lake and Beaver Cove.

Company officials Monday expressed regret that some people were inconvenienced because of lack of notice of the closure.

LIAISON BREAKDOWN

Difficulties caused by control of the road by four different timber companies have resulted in a breakdown in liaison, but the companies are attempting to remedy that situation.

They expect within the next few weeks to appoint a road administrator who will be responsible for all problems of access concerning the road through all four timber operations.

Crown Zellerbach officials said they are hurrying the bridge repairs and expect to have the road open this weekend.

Cougar Washed Ashore

FULFORD—The body of a cougar was recently washed ashore at Saanum Narrows, and Salt Spring Island ranchers believe there is another cougar on the island.

The Ruckles of Beaver Point found three or four sheep dead and are convinced they were killed by a cougar.

Hunter Bob Akerman is waiting with his hound for the cougar's next move.

Questions Await Pickersgill

Location of the proposed Department of Transport multi-million-dollar marine complex, planned for Victoria, will be among the pertinent questions asked Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill here on Friday.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said he hoped to have a talk when the federal minister arrives here for the opening of the new airport terminal.

Where and when the Dominion government will build a new office block to house national unemployment service staff and taxation branches, may be another question asked Mr. Pickersgill.

Nanaimo Hardest Hit
Rash of Accidents
In Up-Island Centres

A heavy rash of weekend traffic accidents was reported Monday from up-Island centres.

In Nanaimo five persons were treated in hospital and damage to nine cars was estimated at more than $3,000. Abraham Johnnie of Cedar, with back injuries suffered in a three-car collision at Chase River late Sunday night, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria, where he was reported in satisfactory condition Monday night.

Passenger Hurt

Margaret James, a passenger in Johnnie's vehicle, was treated and released from Nanaimo hospital.

The drivers of the two other cars involved in the triple rear-end collision were Raymond Mitchell of Duncan and Douglas Walker of Nanaimo. Neither was injured.

Late Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Erben McDougall and their 12-year-old daughter Linda, were treated in Nanaimo Hospital for minor injuries received when the car in which they were riding went out of control north of Wellington on the Island Highway, rolled over and landed at the bottom of a ditch on its roof. RCMP said damage amounted to $1,000.

Leaves Highway

About 12:30 Sunday morning a car driven by Kenneth McFadden of Nanaimo left the Island Highway near the Nanaimo overhead bridge. Mr. McFadden was not injured but police estimated damage to the car at $1,000.

A few minutes earlier, cars driven by Thomas Rhodes, Nanaimo and E. M. McDonald, Vancouver, collided at Finlayson and Nicol causing almost $300 damage.

No one was injured when cars driven by Barry Anderson, Ladysmith, and W. J. Ball, Nanaimo, collided at Bowen and Comox late Saturday night. Damage was estimated at $375.

Narrow Escape

In the Alberni area, a Parksville couple had a narrow escape when they rolled in their car down a 75-foot embankment off the Alberni-Tofino Road Saturday night.

Heinz Leckow was uninjured and his wife was treated at West Coast General Hospital and released following the accident in which their vehicle was described as a total loss.

According to RCMP, the driver pulled too far to the right while passing an oncoming car and went over the side just west of a hairpin bend about 10 miles from the Alberni area.

Kittens Found

Two kittens rode the car to the bottom of the embankment with their owners. One was found at the time of the accident, the other was picked up near the scene the following morning.

Another Parksville man, Gordon Graham, was the driver of a car which sustained damage estimated at $500 when it went out of control on a left-hand curve of Highway 4 on the east side of Alberni Mountain. There were no injuries.

Near the same spot cars driven by Armando Benven and Delmar Buck, both of Alberni, collided on a curve. Total damages were approximately $475.

RCMP attended six accidents in the Courtenay area over the weekend.

'Over-Conscientious'

Fatality Details
Pieced Together
At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Details of the pulp mill accident which killed Leslie Knowles, 18, in Port Alberni Friday were pieced together over the weekend by officials of MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River Ltd.

J. R. Forrest, Alberni area general manager for the company, explained that it was difficult to reconstruct the accident because Knowles, son of pulp mill superintendent, Bruce Knowles, was working alone at the time.

NO WITNESSES

Although there was no witness to the tragedy, evidence indicated the youth had been over-conscientious and was trying to do "too good a job" in his clean-up work around a conveyor belt apparatus that carried wood chips into the mill, Forrest said.

It appeared that he had reached too far into the machine with his broom and that it became entangled in the mechanism, carrying him with it.

GIVEN INSTRUCTION

Mill officials confirmed that the foreman had given Knowles safety instruction at the time he was hired and that the hazards and necessary precautions had been explained. This is normal procedure for all new employees, it was stated.

Mr. Forrest said, "I know all our employees join me in extending deepest sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Knowles and to other members of their family. Their loss is felt by all of us."

An inquest into the death will reconvene at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 17.

Plaque for 'Pig War'

A century-old border dispute between the United States and Canada was recalled with a simple plaque-dedicating ceremony on San Juan Island at Roche Harbor Sunday.

Standing in an old tree-shaded cemetery, 30 University Naval Training Division cadets from across Canada under the command of Lt. Cmdr. Eric Sadler watched as a two-foot-square aluminum plaque was dedicated to the memory of seven Royal Marines and a civilian who died while stationed with the British garrison from 1860 to 1872.

BULLETLESS WAR

The plaque was placed there for the Maritime Museum of British Columbia, and the ceremony brought back memories of the bulletless Big War—a dispute between the United States and Great Britain over a boundary line—which started in 1859.

It all began when an American farmer killed a pig belonging to an American resident and was brought before a British justice of the peace.

Before the dispute was finally resolved, British and American settlers voiced poeues at one another and

Britain and the United States garrisoned 25 troops each on the island. There was never any battle and the troops remained until 1872, when the border was agreed upon.

The property in which the cemetery lies is part of 130

acres purchased by the Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission last year from James Crook, 94, an island resident for 92 years.

It was he who tended the graves.

The UNTD cadets presented

the plaque to Washington State historian Lloyd Bell.

It will be placed on a sandstone cairn built by the cadets.

Representing the museum were director, Col. John Symons and secretary Cmdr. Fred Grubb.

Hospital Staff Needs Homes

NANAIMO—Ald. Douglas Greer has appealed to private enterprise in Nanaimo to provide low-cost accommodation for regional hospital staff in an effort to alleviate the lack of staff at the hospital.

"There is a lack of staff, and a lack of accommodation for staff at the hospital and it is extremely unfortunate," he said. Ald. Greer pointed out that criticism registered recently that the 14-year-old hospital building is already short of beds for patients is not really due.

"It's not because the beds are not there. They just don't have the staff to serve them."

Ald. Greer issued an appeal to "anybody in the city who could open their homes to the nursing staff at a reasonable price. He also mentioned the transportation difficulty for hospital staff members who don't own cars, live a distance from the hospital and work late shifts when the buses are not running."

"Accommodation has got to be made available at a reasonable cost with some consideration for furnishings because these people are not too highly paid," said the alderman. He suggested that if such accommodation existed, nurses on world tours might be encouraged to stay longer.

Ald. Jack Parker said land suitable for this purpose near the hospital would be available soon.

Winter Works Plan

Nanaimo Protests 'Financial Burden'

NANAIMO—City council has approved a motion to let Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell know the difficulties that would be caused if the amendment to the Winter Works program removing the province's 25 per cent share working costs for persons not on welfare stands.

Ald. Bus MacDonald introduced the motion by calling for a letter to the minister outlining in detail the projects under the Winter Works program the city has lined up for the winter and the additional costs to the city if the amendment stands.

In the existing scheme, the provincial and federal governments split the Winter Works labor costs for persons working under the program who receive social assistance of some kind. For persons not on welfare, the federal government pays half and, until the time of the introduction of the amendment, the province and municipal government split the difference.

Bennett

Perrault Charge Denied

Premier Bennett Monday described as "completely untrue" a charge by Liberal Leader Ray Perrault that the government is trying to coerce Vancouver Island civil leaders into supporting the proposed bank of B.C.

Perrault said last week representatives of Island communities seeking government co-operation have been told they would be "well advised" to request by letter that a branch of the bank be established in their community.

Mr. Perrault declined to give details but said he can substantiate the charge and will present examples in the legislature.

Former Alderman Honored by Park

PORT ALBERNI—The Civic Park on Fifth Avenue South was formally dedicated Monday afternoon when it was named in honor of former alderman Fred G. Weaver, for many years chairman of the city's parks committee.

Mr. Weaver told of how some of the parkland was reclaimed from a brush-covered gully and developed for use of the citizens.

SHARED DUTIES

Rev. Hugh Cruikshank officiated at the ceremony at which Mayor Les Hammer and Ald. Garnet Reynolds, head of the parks and recreation commission, shared chairman's duties.

Youngsters from all the parks in the Twin Cities gathered with their supervisors for the occasion and sang several songs to the accompaniment of Doug MacLeod's guitar.

Loran Jordan, mayor of the city for 17 years, spoke to the children.

Mr. Weaver served on city council from 1926 to the end of 1928, and again from 1952 until Dec. 31, 1963. He was a member of the city's school board for many years.

Johnson's Action Backed by Voters

Second Russian Woman Ready for Space Trip?

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union hinted Monday that a new manned space flight is in the offing and that it may be made by a woman.

(In Turin, Italy, a radio listening post reported Monday that it had picked up radio signals from the Soviet Union which appeared to be part of a cosmonaut countdown. The report came from Italy's largest radio laboratory.)

The hints were contained in the government newspaper Izvestia amid unofficial reports that a space launching was being prepared.

By LOUIS HARRIS

Fully 85 per cent of the American people stand solidly behind President Lyndon Johnson's action in ordering an air strike on North Viet Nam PT boat bases, according to a just-completed survey of a cross-section of the public.

In a single stroke, Johnson has, at least temporarily, turned his greatest political vulnerability in foreign policy into one of his strongest assets.

These key facts emerged from this special survey taken immediately after the president's action:

● Word of the events in North Viet Nam spread quickly: 88 per cent of the public reported having followed the rapidly-moving developments; the remaining 12 per cent said they were not acquainted with them 24 to 48 hours later.

● In July—before the turn of events, the Johnson administration was criticized by 59 per cent of Americans for the way Viet Nam was being handled. Today, the American people have sharply revised this estimate to a 72 per cent vote of confidence in the president's approach to Viet Nam.

● Before the attacks on U.S. naval vessels, public opinion was moving slowly toward favoring carrying the war to North Viet Nam. But a plurality of the public still opposed this step, fearing Red Chinese intervention. Now, those with opinions on the subject favor taking the war to North Viet Nam by a majority of two to one.

● Before the president's action, 59 per cent of the public thought Johnson could handle Viet Nam better than Sen. Barry Goldwater. This represented five points less than the 64 to 36 per cent lead Johnson had over Goldwater in the presidential race. Viet Nam was clearly an issue working for Goldwater. Today, Viet Nam has

VANCOUVER (CP)—The National Employment Service is to be taken from the wing of the Unemployment Insurance Commission and become a part of the labor department, Labor Minister MacEachen said here Monday night.

Mr. MacEachen told the International Association of Government Labor Officials that the employment service had been working under a cloud "because of its association with the negative aspect of unemployment insurance."

"This has certainly affected its public image and has to some extent limited its effectiveness," the minister said. The basic aims of the employment service would remain the same after its transfer. "But in arranging this move we will be able to make it easier for the employment service to provide the kind of service that is needed today, and to play its part more effectively in the organization of the labor market and the implementation of an active manpower policy."

Held in Halifax Murders YOUTH CHARGED

HALIFAX (CP)—An 18-year-old Halifax youth gave himself up to police at an airport terminal here late Monday and was charged with the killing of two boys in the city's south end Saturday night. His name was withheld.

Knifer Spreads Terror At Sea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A ship in mid-Pacific radioed the U.S. Coast Guard here Monday night that her boatwain had stabbed one crew member to death and injured another while they slept and was terrorizing the rest of the crew with a knife.

The ship was identified as the St. Nicholas, which the coast guard said was of Lebanese registry.

The master gave his position as about 2,000 miles northwest of Honolulu, headed for Japan.

500 MILES
The coast guard gave the St. Nicholas the names of six other ships in the area which might have a doctor aboard, but none was within 500 miles. The coast guard also suggested to the master that he put in at the nearest naval base, Midway Island, if possible.

The coast guard and the navy checked the vast area for a military vessel which might be sent to the aid of the St. Nicholas.

Witness Terrified—Judge

VANCOUVER (CP)—County Court Judge R. A. Sargent declared Monday that a terrified crown witness had obviously been tampered with.

Crown counsel Donald Morrison was directed to refer the matter to the attorney-general. The witness, Donald Trudeau, was asked about vandalism in his Berolima Cabaret March 20. The judge said Trudeau's answers were evasive and obviously made in a state of terror.

He convicted Frank (Red) Gardner, 34, and his brother Tony, 27, of malicious damage, and Frank Gardner guilty on another charge of possession of an offensive weapon. Both were remanded to Friday for sentence.

The judge said he found that a gang of men, including the two brothers, had entered the club armed with chains and sticks and had demolished the premises.

Another 55 Lumpas Killed

LUSAKA (Reuters)—Northern Rhodesian security forces Monday killed 55 more followers of the outlawed Lumpas church sect in a violent battle in the Northern Province, a government spokesman said Monday night. One soldier later died of wounds.

The spokesman said Monday's action brought the officially-confirmed death toll in both Northern and Eastern Provinces in more than two weeks of clashes to 491 killed and 344 wounded.

Prime Minister Kenneth Kaunda said earlier Monday he thought there had been outside interference in the Lumpas sect disturbances. "Definitely this has been exploited by some better informed minds in the military sense."

The arrest ended a desperate 48-hour day-and-night search that started after three boys—11 and 12 years old—were shot down separately within 40 minutes. One boy survived and is recovering in hospital. The gunman is said to have ridden a bicycle.

TWO CHARGES

Police Chief Verdon Mitchell announced shortly after the youth was arrested that he had been charged with the capital murder of 11-year-old Gordon Hartling and 12-year-old James Squires.

The chief said the name of the arrested youth would not be made known until he is arraigned in court today.

AIRPORT TIP

Chief Mitchell said the arrest came as a result of information received by RCMP from employees of the Halifax International Airport, 25 miles outside the city. A team of city police and RCMP took the 18-year-old into custody.

After lengthy questioning by police, the charge of capital murder was laid. The chief said the youth was from "the Halifax

Bookies Find the Key To Teen-Age Pockets

LONDON (UPI)—A chain of British bookies is now taking bets on which entertainers will top the weekly best-selling record charts.

The Beatles quickly became 4-1 favorites, shortly after pop record charts were added Sunday to horse races, football games and other traditional gambling favorites at the 21 East London betting shops of William Massey.

Bill Newman, a co-director of the East London chain, said the betting was started after noting the habits of teen-agers. "They spend money in record shops, on clothes, and hair-dos—but they don't ever seem to bet," he said.

But betting on the Beatles seemed to be changing that. The firm's shops were crowded with teen-agers wagering on disc artists instead of horses.

Sporadic Gunfire

Cyprus Still Tense Despite Cease-Fire

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Turkey and the Greek Cypriots accepted a Cyprus cease-fire negotiated by the United Nations Monday, but sporadic gunfire continued in downtown Nicosia and northwest Cyprus. The uneasy truce was imperiled later Monday when the Greek Cypriots rejected a Turkish demand that Greek Cypriot troops withdraw from the northwest coast to positions held before the fighting erupted.

"IMPOSSIBLE"

A foreign ministry spokesman said the withdrawal was "psychologically impossible" because of heavy Greek Cypriot casualties there. "It is out of the question that we withdraw from the new positions and Turkey knows this," he said.

Both parties had notified the UN that they would abide by the peace plan, but Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu said Turkish compliance was conditional on the Greek Cypriots ending their inroads into Turkish territory.

Martin Hails Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin welcomed renewed pressure in Parliament Monday for wider powers and a larger United Nations force to keep the Cyprus crisis from growing into another world war.

However, he warned during an emergency Commons debate that the UN cannot impose itself on the government of the Mediterranean island.

Defence Minister Hellyer said it is well understood by the United Nations that Canada would withdraw her troops from the UN peacekeeping force in Cyprus if they were ordered into a militarily indefensible position.

Savage Race Fight

Battle Scene Surrounded

BESSEMER, Ala. (UPI)—Armed deputy sheriffs threw a tight cordon around a predominantly Negro community early Monday after a savage interracial knife fight that saw a Negro man killed and four other persons wounded Sunday.

Eighteen deputies carrying shotguns encircled the town for several hours in the early morning sealing all three roads leading into Rainwood, on the outskirts of Bessemer, after the battle.

NO ARRESTS

Bessemer coroner Andy Vines issued a tentative ruling of "justifiable homicide" in the stabbing death of Bennie C. Gates, 23, a Negro. Gates received three large stab wounds in his left side and numerous small slashes in his body and face.

Involved in the fight with Gates were Benny Blake Hicks and his father, Lester Hicks, both white. They received minor cuts and bruises.

In other racial developments in the south, a private autopsy ordered by the family of one of three civil rights workers killed in Mississippi added to the controversy in the case.

WAS'NT BEATEN

A New York pathologist said his examination of the body of Michael Schwerner, 24, of Brooklyn, showed no evidence that the social worker was beaten before a bullet ended his life. An earlier private autopsy by the same pathologist on James Chaney, another of the victims, stated the Meridian, Miss., Negro was brutally beaten before or after three shots were fired into his body.

Whites Charged

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Police charged three white men with murder Monday night in the fatal shooting of a Negro woman during racial unrest here last March.

J. W. Rich, 21, Wayne M. Chessman, 21, and Elmer Kato, 19, all of Jacksonville, were charged with the murder of Mrs. Johnnie May Chappell, 35.

Head in Toilet

Murder Suspect Found Nearly Drowned in Cell

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man charged with two counts of capital murder almost drowned in his prison cell Sunday night. A guard pulled the man's head from a toilet bowl.

The incident occurred a little more than 24 hours after Ronald Eugene Ingram, a 34-year-old baker, was charged with a crime two years old.

FACES TWO CHARGES

He faces two counts of capital murder in the rifle slaying of sweethearts Diane Phipps and Leslie Dixon on Oct. 16, 1962. Their bodies were found in locations eight miles apart near Nanaimo, after they had been shot with a .22-calibre rifle.

Officials at Oakalla prison farm said Ingram was alone in a cell and the toilet had been plugged. A guard found him at 10:45 p.m. and called an inmate labor squad.

UNDER CLOSE GUARD

No pulse was apparent but Ingram later responded to treatment and was placed under close guard in the prison hospital, where his condition Monday was satisfactory.

Couple Not Parents Of Accused Man

NANAIMO—Ronald Eugene Ingram, accused in the 1962 rifle slaying of Leslie Dixon and Diane Phipps, is not the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ingram, 1020 Beach Drive, Nanaimo, as reported in a front page story in the Sunday edition of The Daily Colonist.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingram are not related to the 34-year-old suspect, and The Daily Colonist regrets any inconvenience caused by the statement.

Helicopter Crashes

BLACKSTONE, Va. (AP)—A U.S. army helicopter with four men aboard, and reported to have been carrying explosives, crashed and caught fire Monday night on a farm about eight miles north of here. The four men escaped from the wreckage and were taken to the army dispensary at nearby Camp Pickett. Officers evacuated five families from homes near the crash scene.
